All investments carry risks. Different investments carry different levels of risk, depending on the assets and investment strategy. Assets with the highest long-term returns may also carry the highest level of risk (both in the short-term and long-term).

When considering your investment, it is important to know that the value of your investment can rise and fall in value significantly and quickly and the level of returns from the investment will vary. Future returns will differ from past returns and returns of your capital or the performance of the investment are not guaranteed.

You should consider the level of risk that you are willing to accept by thinking about your age, investment time frame, where your wealth is otherwise invested and your risk tolerance. As the risks noted on this website do not take account of your personal situation and needs, you should consider seeking professional advice as to the suitability of investing.

General risks of investing include changes in economic conditions, political instability, changes in laws, the potential for loss of income or capital, a less than expected rate of return or a delay in payment. All investments are subject to these and other risks.
